Coley Price Name Assistant County Manager

Last month, Coley Price joined Harnett County as the new Assistant County Manager. Coley will complete the County's management team, which also includes Assistant County Manager Brian Haney.

"Coley brings a wealth of knowledge to our office," said County Manager, Paula Stewart. "He will be able to make an immediate impact with very little transition time since he has already developed positive relationships with most of our staff and partners." Price has over 20 years of experience in local government. He served the Town of Angier for 24 years as the Town Manager, Parks & Recreation Director, Water Treatment Manager, and Assistant Town Manager.

Coley, who is a native of Harnett County, resides in Angier with his wife, Rachel and his fur baby, Pete, who was rescued 5 1/2 years ago from the Harnett County Animal Shelter. He is an alumni of East Carolina University and a huge Pirates fan (Go Pirates!). Join me in welcoming our new Assistant County Manager. Welcome to the team, Coley!

Health & Wellness Tip: Healthy Eating on the Run

Use these tips to stay on your healthy eating track even when you eat out.

- Order the regular or child-size portion. Don't supersize it. Mega-sized servings are probably more than you need.
- Ask for a baked potato or side salad in place of French fries; no mayonnaise or bacon on your sandwich.
- Pass up all-you-can-eat specials, buffets.
- Boost the nutrition in all types of sandwiches by adding tomato, lettuce, peppers or other vegetables.
- Build a better breakfast sandwich: replace bacon or sausage with Canadian bacon or ham and order your mouth via community groups, and churches seeking victims.
- Choose either a no-calorie beverage (like water, unsweetened tea, or diet soda) or one that contributes some nutrients along with its calories (like low-fat milk or 100% orange juice).
- Always eating on the go? Tuck portable, nonperishable foods in your purse, tote, or backpack for an on-the-run meal. Some suggestions are peanut butter and crackers, granola bars, a piece of fresh fruit, trail mix, single serve packages of whole grain cereal or crackers.
- Share portions, if you see that your preferred choice has a lot of calories, or save part of your meal for later.

Jimmy Riddle Retires After 32 Years of Service

Jimmy Riddle, Emergency Services Director, retired on December 14 after 32 years of service to Harnett County. He began his emergency services career as a professional Firefighter and Emergency Medical Technician in 1986. Jimmy's tenure as Emergency Services Director has moved Harnett County's emergency response capability forward as he has built partnerships with emergency agencies and organizations inside and outside of the County, seeking every possible training opportunity for emergency responders and creating an emergency services network that ensured success.

Employees, family, and friends from all over the state of NC were able to celebrate Jimmy and his accomplishments at his retirement party. Jimmy was presented with several awards which included: The Order of the Long Leaf Pine, Certificates of Appreciation, a proclamation, and an American flag and state of North Carolina flag flown over the capital building. We'd like to thank Jimmy for his passion and dedication to Harnett County and his leadership to keep the community safe.

For those unable to attend Jimmy's retirement party, you can view the photos in Jimmy's Retirement photo album.

Human Resources Corner: Employee Tips

Protect yourself: IRS reveals top tax scams to avoid

Tax filing season is here. The IRS has identified some of the top tax scams that seem to increase this time of year. Know what's out there so you can protect yourself when filing your taxes.

Phone and email scams

- Phone scams: Aggressive and threatening phone calls by criminals impersonating IRS agents are on the rise. Scam artists falsely threaten arrest, license revocation and other things to get you to send money.
- Phishing: Ignore unsolicited emails claiming to be an official notice from the IRS. It could be an attempt to steal your personal information. The IRS will not call, email, send a bill or refund out of the blue.
- Identity theft: The IRS continues to aggressively pursue criminals that file fake returns using stolen Social Security numbers. Be extremely careful when providing your personal information to people you don't know.

Tax fraud

Tax preparer fraud: Some tax preparers set up shop every year so they can commit fraud. Most tax professionals provide honest high-quality service, but there are bad apples in the batch. When looking for a tax preparer, check out the IRS' list of tax preparers first.

- Inflated refund claims: Look out for anyone promising inflated refunds. Also, be wary of anyone who asks you to sign a blank return, promises a big refund before looking at your records, or charges fees based on a percentage of your anticipated refund. Scam artists use flyers, advertisements, phony store fronts and word of mouth via community groups, and churches seeking victims.
- Fake charities: Be on guard against groups masquerading as charitable organizations to attract donations from unsuspecting contributors. Take a few extra minutes to ensure your hard-earned money goes to legitimate, and currently eligible, charities. IRS.gov has the tools you need to verify the status of charitable organizations.
- Falsifying income to claim credits: Don't invent income to gain tax credits. Someone may try to talk you into committing this type of tax fraud. You're better off filing the most-accurate return possible.

The IRS has a full list of tax scams to help guard against criminals who try to take advantage of you and your money. Share these tips with others so they can be prepared, too.

Soil & Water Conservation District Assist Community with Hurricane Relief Efforts

Cape Fear River Above Flood Stage

Damaged Tobacco Crops

Water line in pasture over 5 feet deep

Rain Rain, Go Away! That's been a common phrase we've heard over the past several months in Harnett County. During 2018, our area hit record numbers with the amount of rainfall we've received from Hurricane Florence, Hurricane Michael, and the numerous rainstorms. Although Hurricane season has come and gone, the Harnett Soil & Water Conservation District has been at work helping our local farmers with disaster relief assistance.

Harnett County took a big hit this Hurricane season with farms seeing crop damage, farm roads being washed out, and agriculture lands and fields experiencing erosion. Tobacco not yet harvested prior to the storm experienced damage leading to the greatest economic loss for agriculture. Many farmers were unable to cut hay and throughout the state of North Carolina a hay shortage is expected this upcoming year.

Leading the disaster relief efforts is Lynn Lambert, Natural Resources Director, and Mark Walton, Natural Resource Conservationist. Lynn stated "Our team has been very busy, but it's been a good busy. These storms have been a learning experience and allowed us to implement best management practices in order to diversify the assistance we can provide." The Soil & Water Conservation District held two agricultural recovery information sessions this fall to inform the community of the different types of disaster relief programs available. These programs provide farms with partial funding to cover costs of damage incurred from the storms. Even though the programs do not pay the full costs, they still provide a great deal of support to help farms make it to the next growing season.

Altogether, Lynn and her team are working on over 50 contracts with several area farmers to receive assistance and funding for the damage they received from these Hurricanes. Along with the contracts, the Soil & Water Conservation District has experienced an increase in number of residential calls due to the saturated soils. With the amount of rain we have received, including a 1000 year flood, residential grounds are becoming so saturated that residents are needing to implement new strategies to maintain landscapes.

As we start off the New Year, Lynn and Mark are still working hard to assist our community in getting the Harnett County agriculture back to normal operations this year. To read more about Disaster Relief Efforts, check out the Soil & Water Conservation District webpage.
